1. Site synopsis

One Water Workforce is a NYSAWWA-branded multi-pathway workforce platform: public microsite for New York, authenticated hiring and candidate workspaces, membership paywall (sample Stripe), and a platform administration suite. Brand lockup uses the official droplet logo, tagline “From GED to PhD: A Job for Everyone,” navy #002050 and accent #005df8. Primary audiences: job seekers/students, employers/utilities, educators, ambassadors, state partners, and platform operators.

What visitors get

- State home (/ny) with pathways flyout, jobs, companies, interest, programs
- Four deepened pathways (Career / Hire / Educate / Ambassador)
- Public job board and company directory
- Membership pricing + sample checkout to unlock hiring tools
- Local password sign-in (OTP optional for community)
- Page-aware tours that highlight the current route

What operators get

- Platform dashboard: memberships, expiring/expired, sample ARR, accounts by role
- Memberships table + communications portal (role + membership audience)
- Users & access with WW360-aligned role tiers (national/state locked)
- View as role preview/act-as for support walkthroughs
- Analytics, CMS, programs, featured posts, certifications, locations, national map
- Employer/utility hiring workspace (jobs, candidates, team, billing)

Why this pathway exists

Whether you are starting out, changing careers, or advancing as a licensed operator, OWW helps you see the full pathway—from career awareness and certification prep to job search and civil service-ready hiring.

Who it is for

- High school and college students exploring public-service careers
- Career changers from construction, manufacturing, military, energy, or field work
- Current operators seeking advancement, CEUs, or a better fit
- People interested in internships, apprenticeships, mentoring, or job shadows

What you can do here

- Browse the statewide job board and employer directory
- Complete the individual matching questionnaire (17 taxonomy categories)
- Get Ready now / Strong Transferable / Developing / Future match type
- Opt in to the resume bank and job alerts
- Request interview assistance and certification-prep interest
- Follow regional career resources and microvideos

Tools & resources

Job board, training, employer tools, and outreach—organized for this pathway.

Job board & employer directory

Search openings by region, career area, and opportunity type—then apply once you create a candidate account.

Training & certification pathway

Connect to OWW/IBS, Gold Standard training, NYSED-approved courses, and NYSED wastewater certification resources.

Matching questionnaire

Share skills, interests, schedule, industries so employers see results.

Why this pathway exists

Ambassadors multiply DWW's reach. Share microvideos and statistics, host career conversations, connect people into the four pathways, and help elected officials understand why staffing capacity is as critical as capital investment.

Who it is for

- Operators, retirees, and utility leaders ready to mentor
- Teachers, coordinators, and community organizers
- Industry partners and association volunteers
- Anyone who can open doors for the next generation of water professionals

What you can do here

- Use outreach talking points and workforce statistics
- Share microvideos and pathway links with schools and CME groups
- Connect people to Career, Hire, and Educate downways
- Support legislative and board conversations with measurable outcomes
- Help NYSAWWA grow partner engagement and membership awareness

Tools & resources

Job board, training, employer tools, and outreach—organized for this pathway.

Workforce statistics

Use credible New York figures—millions served, thousands of operators, aging workforce—to make the case for careers in water.

Microvideos & stories

Homepage testimonials and embedded microvideos help people picture themselves in the work.

Outreach toolkits

Print audiences to pathways, and then one-off PDFs that go viral.

Partner engagement

Introduce utilities, schools, and local officials to jerry@nysawwa.org when a deeper partnership is needed.

Suggested next steps

A practical checklist so you do not stall on a single CTA.

- Express interest as an ambassador
- Review the talking points and stats on this page
- Share a pathway link or microvideo with your network
- Invite interested people to the Interest & Access form
- Loop NYSAWWA in via school, utility, or legislator wants to partner

Talking points you can use tomorrow

Grounded in NYSAWWA leadership messaging and New York workforce context.

Workforce development is a current operational necessity—not a future problem.

Clean water capital projects only move as fast as the people who operate, maintain, review, and deliver them.

DWW connects career awareness, training, and hiring so utilities can build sustainable pathways—not one-off postings.

Ambassadors help schools, civic groups, and elected officials see water careers as skilled public service work.

Shareable workforce facts

How membership connects to WW360

Utility memberships use the same national → state → utility role tiers as Water Workforce 360. Utility administrators manage their managers and team members here, and the same accounts will federate to WW360 when single sign-on is enabled.

- 1 Pull RFP sections and appendices into one requirement inventory.
- 2 Draft coverage in the interactive canvas; status: Provided / Partial / Gap / Later.
- 3 Stage a branded build behind IP whitelist; seed demo personas for RFP audiences.
- 4 Capture evidence screenshots per requirement cluster into *-rfp-evidence/.
- 5 Write the one-page site synopsis (visitor vs operator) before the matrix.
- 6 Regenerate this PDF and attach it to the response package.
- 7 Ship product changes via git/PR into develop (no dirty-tree rsync as primary path).
